國立臺灣師範大學於民國 111 年（2022）迎來重要的里程碑，校史發展委員會決議成立百年校慶專刊編纂委員會的那一刻起，意謂這刻劃百年時光風華與歷史軌跡的旅程也正式展開。

在臺灣教育史中，本校肩負培育師資的重責大任，對於臺灣社會的特殊貢獻不言可喻，一如專刊書名《百年學思路》所揭橥，冀望呈現本校百年來不斷蛻變、富有活力與創造力的學思歷程。自 1922 年培養菁英的臺北高等學校、1946 年為解決中等教育師資短缺成立的臺灣省立師範學院、1955 年因「師資第一，師範為先」改制的臺灣省立師範大學、到 1967 年升格成為國立臺灣師範大學，本校各階段皆與臺灣社會的發展息息相關，亦在每個轉捩點重新定義時代給予的任務，把握時機進而持續成長茁壯。

百年校史編纂除仰賴史料典藏累積的厚實基礎，亦需順應時代需求重視校史書寫，才能「承先」而「啟後」。本專刊共分上下兩冊，以中英雙語呈現，上冊的校史專文與百年大事記，可綜觀本校及前身臺北高等學校的歷史連結，校徽、校歌、師大大師、歷屆校長、傑出校友、單位簡介與校園地圖等，更完整呈現本校的內涵與底蘊；下冊收錄各學院及僑生先修部發展、特色與展望的專文，以精煉文字表達各專業領域的人文科學思維和多元風采，期望在有限篇幅中，讓獨立的篇章，串連成相互輝映、環環相扣的交響曲，為世界帶來另一種認識本校的嶄新視野。

佇立在本校跨世紀的里程碑，藉由本專刊成為一把開啟燦爛青春與校園回憶的鑰匙，回首過去的同時也開啟與未來的對話，希冀各位師大人「今日我以師大為榮，明日師大以我為榮」，傳承百年薈萃的非凡成就，朝向下一個世紀勇敢地揚帆啟航！

Introduction

The National Taiwan Normal University (NTNU) has reached an important milestone in 2022. The moment the University History Committee decided to establish a special record for the centennial celebration, the endeavor to document hundred years of excellence and novelty also began.

In the history of Taiwan's education, NTNU has borne the ultimate social and educational responsibility for training teachers and cultivating talent. The title, "A Century of Scholarly Thought," epitomizes the university's evolving energetic, and creative intellectual history over the past century in both academic and social fields. In 1922, the Taihoku Higher School was established to serve and nurture elites. In 1946, it transformed into the Taiwan Provincial Teachers College, aiming to mitigate the teacher shortage issue in Taiwan's secondary education. In 1955, the Taiwan Provincial Normal University was restructured to "prioritize the training of professional teachers". In 1967, the institution transformed into the school we know today, the National Taiwan Normal University. NTNU has been closely related to Taiwan's development at each historical and social turning point; the school redefines the tasks given by the times and seizes the opportunities to continue to grow and thrive.

In addition to relying on historical facts recorded in numerous books and records, authentic glimpses into the real hundred years of history should also take context into consideration. A true representation of the journey is what will inherit the past and inspire the future. The record, written in both English and Mandarin, is divided into two volumes. The first volume contains articles on the school history, centennial events, university emblem, university song, masters of NTNU, presidents, and outstanding alumni, as well as introduction to each organization and campus maps to epitomize the university's essence. The second volume contains articles on the development, characteristics, and prospects of each college and Academy of Preparatory Programs for Overseas Chinese Students. Each chapter creates a symphony that showcases the university's strength at the convergence of science and humanities and its vision to bring a new perspective into the world and future.

The centennial celebration is the university's milestone and a crucial key toward the juvenile and innovative future. While it resonates with the past, the record also inspires the dialogues of the future. The university hopes all alumni carry the color of NTNU today, and in turn also bring pride to the school tomorrow: inherit the extraordinary achievements of the century-old university and set sail boldly into uncertainty.

Foreword from the Editor

On May 21, 2021, the University History Committee decided to establish a committee to compile the Centennial Celebration Special Publication. The first compilation meeting was held on July 26, 2021. As the chief editor, under the recommendation of all committee members, I was honored to collaborate and refine the centennial record.

The special publication is divided into two volumes, with the first volume containing articles on school history, information, and centennial events as the main content. An article on the school history documented the development from Taiwan Provincial Teachers College to the Taiwan Provincial Normal University and the school we know today, the National Taiwan Normal University. Another article, in response to the 121st school board meeting held on November 21, 2018, that traced back the school's founding year in 1922, reported the historical memory of Taihoku Higher School and Taiwan Provincial Taipei High School. The second volume is devoted to the history, development, characteristics, and prospects of each college and Academy of Preparatory Programs for Overseas Chinese Students. Each article is a testament to the University's long and fruitful academic work in the relevant fields at home and abroad. The compilation team has collected and researched numerous historical texts. Despite the limited space, the record presented the University's in-depth history and current development with a clear structure, vivid images, and strong readability. Written in both Mandarin and English, the text marked an essential milestone in the University's publication history.

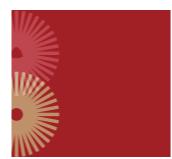

During editing, we would like to express our gratitude toward the University History Committee for their support and the Centennial Celebration Special Publication Committee for their assistance. We are especially grateful to Associate Professor Jerome Su of the Graduate Institute of Translation and Interpretation for his assistance in editing the English content, and all University units and colleagues for their dedication and attention to this special record. Here we welcome our first hundred years, and I look forward to seeing all alumni creating the next century of vision and accomplishment together.

University Emblem

本至聖先師孔子六藝教學之涵意，以「鐘鐸」為造型基礎，取其振聾啟瞞之意。結合六鐸（藝）成一環形，象徵齊頭並進，同心協力，共臻教育「止於至善」之境。圖案中央為「師大」二字，另有黃色「台」字，代表「臺師大」的簡稱。全部構圖呈現有如一欣欣向榮，盛開之花朶。

The emblem formed by six wooden bells in one circle represents the meaning for Six Arts of Confucian philosophy to awaken numb people. The emblem symbolizes going forward together and working as one to attain a “perfect” education. In the center of the emblem are the two characters “Shi Da” and the character “tai” (Taiwan) in yellow lines to symbolize “NTNU”. The entire emblem is presented as a flourishing “flower” in full bloom.

To impart education for greatness in the future are the duties of the teachers.
Help and encourage each other, do not forget your passion and dedication.

自民國 107 年（2018）校務會議決議將大正 11 年（1922）於今日和平校區 I 同址創設之臺北高等學校納為校史開端後，國立臺灣師範大學（以下簡稱本校）將於民國 111 年（2022）迎接百年校慶。本校百年校慶的重新定義，見證了臺灣在民主、多元化時代自我認同摸索的軌跡。¹

從歷史來看，本校在校址、校舍及初期教學資源等各方面，直接繼承日本時代臺灣總督府臺北高等學校（1922-1945）。在戰前日本的學制中，高等學校的學生幾乎可以免試進入帝國大學。從學制設計、教學資源與內容、社會角色等各方面來看，臺北高校可說是準高等教育機構。

民國 34 年（1945）日本戰敗，中華民國政府接收臺灣，依中國學制將臺北高校改為臺灣省立臺北高級中學（1945-1949）。民國 35 年（1946）6 月，臺灣省行政長官公署考慮到中等學校師資需求，決定設立臺灣省立師範學院（1946-1955）。²雖然從行政程序上來看，省立師院是另外新設的學校，但設立初期與臺北高中共用校地、教學資源及部分師資，其後的發展也是建立在吸收、整併臺北高校及臺北高中的基礎之上，因此將本校歷史的開端上溯至臺北高校的成立，無論從歷史事實或是社會記憶來看均屬合理。

隨著社會變遷與高等教育需求的變化，民國 44 年（1955）省立師院升格為臺灣省立師範大學（1955-1967），56 年（1967）改制為國立臺灣師範大學。1990 年代以後，隨著臺灣走向民主化、多元開放，本校也從師資培育機構逐漸發展為培育全方位人才的綜合型大學。

Since 2018, the university assembly of National Taiwan Normal University (hereinafter referred to as NTNU) has decided that it began its life as Taihoku Higher School, established in 1922 at the site of today's Heping campus I. NTNU celebrates the hundredth anniversary of its founding in 2022. The school's reinvention over the last century evidences Taiwan's journey of self-identification into the age of democracy and diversity.¹

History shows us that in terms of its campus location, school building and early teaching resources, NTNU is the successor of Taihoku Higher School under the Taiwanese Governor-General of the Japanese period (1922-1945). In the education system of pre-war Japan, the students of the school could enter Imperial Universities almost without testing. From looking at various aspects such as the design of the education system, teaching resources and its role in society, Taihoku Higher School was certainly an esteemed higher education institution.

In 1945, Japan lost the war, and the government of the Republic of China took control of Taiwan. Under the Chinese education system, the school was renamed Taipei High School (1945-1949). In June 1946, due to the demand for secondary school teachers, the Taiwan Provincial Government decided to establish Taiwan Provincial Teachers College (1946-1955).² Although from an administrative point of view, the Provincial Teachers College was a separate, newly established school, it initially shared its campus, teaching resources and teachers with Taipei High School. Later development of the Teachers College was achieved by absorbing and completely amalgamating Taihoku Higher School and Taipei High School. Therefore, tracing the history of NTNU all the way back to the founding of Taihoku Higher School seems rational in terms of both historical fact and collective memory.

Following great changes in society and increased demand for higher education, in 1955 Taiwan Provincial Teachers College was upgraded to Taiwan Provincial Normal University (1955-1967), and in 1967 was restructured to National Taiwan Normal University. From the 1990s, following Taiwan's democratization and diversification, the school gradually developed from a teacher training institution into a comprehensive university teaching a broad range of disciplines.

This chapter outlines the history of the school's development since 1945 in chronological order. The journey begins with the early postwar transition process, followed by the restructuring into NTNU, and continuous progress in both teaching and research on the journey to creating the "NTNU" brand.

When Taihoku Higher School was founded, it was called High School of the Office of Taiwan Governor General; in 1927 all higher education institutions added the city name so it became Taihoku Higher School of the Office of Taiwan Governor General. For the sake of simplicity, the article uses Taihoku Higher School.

壹、承先啟後：從臺北高中、省立師院到省立師大

民國 34 年 8 月 15 日日本無條件投降並結束在臺殖民統治，臺灣的各級行政機關、學校悉數由中華民國政府接收。本校前身之一的臺北高校於 34 年 12 月由張金潤負責接收，更名為「臺灣省立臺北高級中學」，變成「三三制」的高中。³

另一方面，日本殖民時期臺灣的原有師範學校以培育初等教育師資為主，並沒有培育中等學校師資機構；而中等學校教師隨著日籍教師遭返而出現大量缺額，亟需設立培育相應師資機構。為此，民國 35 年 1 月，臺灣省行政長官公署教育處規劃籌設「臺灣省立文學院」以培育語文、歷史師資，後考量文理各科師範培育統整性，而於 4 月核准成立「臺灣省立師範學院」（以下簡稱省立師院）。⁴

省立師院的籌備委員會原設於龍口町，後遷往龍安街（今臺北市龍泉街）的臺北高中校址辦公。⁵ 6 月 5 日省立師院正式成立，由李季谷擔任首任院長。⁶

I. Transition: From Taipei High School to Taiwan Provincial Teachers College and Taiwan Provincial Normal University

On August 15, 1945, Japan unconditionally surrendered and ended its colonial rule of Taiwan. All Taiwanese government agencies and schools were taken over by the government of the Republic of China. In December, Chang Chin-Run took charge of Taihoku Higher School. Its name was changed to Taipei High School and incorporated into the “three-three academic system”.³

Taiwan's original teacher training schools under Japanese rule were mainly used to train elementary school teachers, and there was no institution for training secondary school teachers. Following the repatriation of Japanese teachers, many vacancies appeared for secondary school teachers, so institutions had to be urgently set up to train enough teachers. In January 1946, the Taiwan Provincial Government Education Bureau created the Taiwan Provincial Arts College to train teachers in literature and history. Later, a more complete education in all subjects of the arts and sciences was considered necessary, thus in April, the establishment of Taiwan Provincial Teachers College was authorized.⁴ The College's preparatory committee was originally set up in Longkou District, and later moved its operation to Taipei High School on Longan Street (the present Longquan Street).⁵ On June 5, Taiwan Provincial Teachers College was officially formed, with Li Ji-Gu as its first principal.⁶

省立師院創立之初，設有教育、國文、英語、史地、數學、理化、博物等 7 個學系，修業 5 年（含實習 1 年）；⁷另外招收 4 年制上述 7 系及音樂、體育專修科 9 班，及 1 年制專修科 1 班，以快速培養中等學校師資。各系、科陸續招生下，8 月放榜，錄取 606 名新生。⁸民國 36 年（1947）6 月，1 年制專修科有 22 名畢業生，為本校首屆畢業生。⁹

省立師院成立之初，受惠於與臺北高中共用軟硬體教學資源，例如共用校址、校舍空間，師資相互兼任，圖書館或實驗室等教學設備亦輪流使用。然而，兩校共處同一空間倍感侷促，雙方師生亦時常爭奪有限設備利用權。¹⁰省立師院校方為進一步統一利用相關設備，自民國 36 年起開始向長官公署申請轉移臺北高中前述設備之產權，至民國 38 年（1949）該校停辦，省立師院正式接收其所有設備。同時，也陸續申請撥給附近土地，以興建校舍、宿舍、圖書館等建築，使得教學空間大為擴增。¹¹根據教育部相關法規，師院所有科系均採公費培育，在學期間支給食米或零用金，畢業由政府分發，工作獲保障。因此，吸引許多優秀青年學子報考。

從戰前到戰後初期的世變中，本校跨越不同時代、不同學制的自由學風，仍然可以看到若干延續性。日本時代的臺北高校，係培養帝國大學預備生的菁英教育，由於部分末代高校生戰後轉讀臺北高中，且校舍的存續，也使學校精神的象徵有所寄託，高校的自由自治學風得以傳承下來。¹²另一方面，民國 38 年之前，臺北高中與省立師院招聘了許多來自中國的教師，也招收來自中國各地的學生；其中不少人將五四運動以降之自由學風及各種進步思想帶到臺灣校園。這些懷抱著改造社會理想的師生，不願坐視戰後初期政府各種行政、教育措施失當，而興起一波波學潮。¹³

民國 36 年二二八事件及其後的清鄉，許多臺灣菁英受難。事件之後，國民黨政權更加強化管制臺灣社會及校園。青年學生對政府及教育當局持續強力壓制不滿的反彈，即導致 38 年四六事件的發生。

When the Teachers College was first established, it had seven departments: education, Chinese, English, history and geography, physics and chemistry, mathematics, and natural history. There were five years of study, including one year of internship.⁷ In order to rapidly train secondary school teachers, the College also admitted nine classes for four years in these 7 departments and specialized courses in music and sports, and one class for a one-year specialized course. Students were admitted to each department and class, and the ranking was released in August, admitting a total of 606 new students.⁸ In June 1947, the one-year specialized course had 22 graduates, the school's first batch of graduates.⁹

In its early days, the College benefitted from the shared use of facilities and teaching resources with Taipei High School. The schools shared a campus and school buildings, and teachers held posts at both institutions. The schools also took turns using facilities such as the library and laboratory. However, the two schools coexisting in the same space were so cramped that both teachers and students frequently fought over the right to use the limited facilities.¹⁰ In a move to integrate the use of these facilities, in 1947, the Teachers College began appealing to government officials to transfer Taipei High School's ownership rights. In 1949, the high school was shut down, and the Teachers College officially took ownership of all its facilities. At the same time, the College also applied for an allocation of the neighboring land for constructing school buildings, dormitories and a library, greatly increasing the teaching space.¹¹ According to legislation from the Ministry of Education, all the departments of the Teachers College were awarded public funds for training. Teachers were given food and a stipend while training, and upon graduation, they had a guaranteed job by the government. The College therefore attracted many outstanding young students to take the entrance exam.

Despite the many changes from the pre-war to the early postwar period, the College's free academic atmosphere was maintained. While the education systems were very different, there was still a certain amount of continuity. Taihoku Higher School of the Japanese era trained the top students for entry to Imperial Universities. Due to some students of the final class of Taihoku Higher School staying on when it became Taipei High School, as well as the continued existence of the school buildings, the spirit of the school remained, and its liberal academic atmosphere of freedom and autonomy was passed on.¹² Before 1949, Taipei High School and Taiwan Provincial Teachers College recruited many teachers from China, and admitted students from all over China. Many among them had brought the liberal education style and some progressive ideas from the May 4th Movement to the Taiwan campus. These teachers and students who embraced the transformation of society's ideals were faced with harsh and unfair measures by the early postwar government. Unwilling to stand by and watch, the students rose in a wave of protest.¹³

民國 38 年 3 月 20 日，本校與臺灣大學學生因單車雙載與警方發生衝突，學生聚眾抗議又遭逮捕，引來更大規模的罷課遊行。周慎源等 6 名師院學生張貼標語、散發傳單、聚眾抗議的行為，引來警總注意。警總在行動前已掌握一批「逮捕名單」，以此要求臺大、省立師院校方按表交人。時任師院院長的謝東閔反對無效下，決意辭職。¹⁴ 警總則派軍警於 4 月 6 日凌晨進入師院宿舍，逮捕據守的兩校學生共 300 多人。¹⁵ 曾於二二八事件後創作流傳後世的版畫〈恐怖的檢查〉的黃榮燦，37 年（1948）進入本校藝術系擔任講師、教授版畫，培育了許多重要的藝術家，例如後來聞名海內外的雕塑家楊英風即是其首屆學生之一。¹⁶ 據聞其曾參與巡迴全臺各地表演歌舞、「宣揚人民藝術」的「麥浪歌詠隊」，被警總視為「煽動民心、宣揚社會主義思想」，而在四六事件中成為主要搜捕、打擊對象之一。¹⁷

In the February 28 incident of 1947 and the purge which followed it, many Taiwanese elites suffered. After the incident, the Kuomintang regime intensified its control over Taiwanese society and campuses. The resentful backlash by young students against the continued powerful suppression from the government and education authorities led to the April 6 incident in 1949.

On March 20, 1949, after a conflict with police due to an overloaded bicycle, some students from the Teachers College and National Taiwan University (NTU) gathered to protest and were arrested, attracting even larger student striking and demonstrations. The actions of six students of the Teachers College, including Zhou Shen-Yuan who posted placards, distributed leaflets and gathered to protest, attracted the attention of the chief of police. The chief of police already had an “arrest list” before the action, and so he requested NTU and the Teachers College to hand over the suspects. The opposition of the principal, Hsieh Dong-Min, was ineffective, and he was made to resign.¹⁴ Early in the morning of April 6, the police chief sent troops into the dormitories of the Teachers College to arrest over 300 students from both schools.¹⁵ Huang Rong-Can, who made the well-known woodcut “A Horrifying Inspection” which was widely circulated after the February 28 incident, entered Department of Arts of NTNU as a lecturer to teach printmaking in 1948. He trained many significant artists, and Yang Yin-Feng, the sculptor who was later well known in Taiwan and abroad, was one of his first students.¹⁶ It is understood he participated in a tour of Taiwan performing singing and dancing with “Mai Lang

劉真於民國 38 年至 46 年（1957）長期擔任本校院長及校長，對於本校其後的發展及校風有很大的影響。其任內訂定的校訓「誠正勤樸」沿用迄今，並且有幾項比較大的發展變化。第一，擴大校地，省立師院原繼承校地只有今日校本部（今和平校區 I）區域，經其向政府爭取，民國 40 年（1951）獲撥圖書館校區（今和平校區 II）、師大路東側土地。第二，新建圖書館，擴增藏書量。37 年（1948）東北大學遷臺圖書撥歸本校保存，原存放於行政大樓 3 樓圖書室，獲撥前述土地後即分 3 年建立圖書館。¹⁹第三，延聘著名學者，充實師資，如黃君璧、溥心畬（美術系）、梁實秋（英文系）、楊亮功（教育系）、陳可忠（理化系）、沙學浚（史地系）等學者均曾獲邀至本校任教。第四，44 年升格為省立臺灣師範大學，編制擴增。²⁰

戰後至 1990 年代《師資培育法》公布為止，本校可說是臺灣中等師資培育機關重鎮，在國家政策支持下，師資及各項教學資源均佳，吸引優秀的青年學子前來就讀。除了培育專業的中等學校師資之外，本校也因應國內社會及國際政治環境的變化，展開新的人才培育方向。

在接受美援政策之下，首先是自 1950 年代初期起，本校接受賓州州立大學協助，推動訓練工業技職、家事指導人員所需師資。民國 42 年（1953），獨立發展為工業教育學系與家政學系，為其後數十年本校作為臺灣工業教育及家政教育重鎮，奠定堅固的基礎。²¹

Singing Group” and performed “Proclaim the People’s Art.” This was viewed by the police chief as “inciting popular sentiment and proclaiming socialist thought”, and in the April 6 incident, he became one of the main targets of the manhunt and crackdown.¹⁷

After the April 6 incident broke out, the Teachers College received an order by wire from the provincial government to close the school that very day. All students would have to re-register, and Liu Chen was engaged as the head of the Teachers College Rectification Committee as well as President. He declared that students would board at the school together, and would take part in a morning meeting and flag raising at 7 am every morning. A military instructor would take random roll calls, in an attempt to regulate the students thinking through strict regulations.¹⁸ The liberal atmosphere from the Japanese period had come to an end; the Teachers College, and NTNU after it, became representative of the conservative education style.

Liu Chen held the post of President for a long term from 1949 to 1957, and had a very large influence on the later development and campus atmosphere. The school motto, “sincerity, integrity, simplicity and diligence” was coined during his time in office, and remains in use today. There were several more major changes under his leadership, including the expansion of the campus. The campus Taiwan Provincial Teachers College inherited comprised only what is today’s Main Campus (now the Heping Campus I) area. By negotiating with the government, President Liu enabled the acquisition in 1951 of the Library Campus (now Heping Campus II) and land to the east of Shida Road. Secondly, under Liu’s leadership, the newly built library expanded its collection. In 1948, Northeastern University moved its library from the mainland to Taiwan and was left with the Teachers College for safekeeping. The books were originally stored in a book room on the 3rd floor of the administrative building, 3 years after acquiring the aforementioned land, the new library was

其次，是民國 44 年本校與美國亞洲協會合作設置英語教學中心，強化英語教學與研究，為臺灣英語教學之先驅者。目前本校的英語教學、中英文翻譯及口譯，都有世界級的水準，於 109 年（2020）獲選為教育部雙語標竿大學，校內也於 110 年（2021）成立英語學術素養中心。

第三，民國 38 年中華民國政府遷臺以後，為爭取海外華人對中華民國的認同，展開對海外華僑的各種優惠政策，包括歡迎僑生來臺升學。本校於 39 年（1950）起開始招收僑生；43 年（1954），成立華僑師資專修科，培育海外華文教育師資。許多僑生自本校畢業後，回到僑居地擔任中學教職，頗受各界肯定，為本校在海外華人世界奠定了良好的人脈與聲譽。²² 95 年（2006）與國立僑生大學先修班整合，改設僑生先修部。

第四，同樣是在政府的僑教政策支持下，本校於民國 45 年（1956）設立國語教學中心，吸引海外僑胞來臺灣學習中文，也接受外國人士就讀。澳洲前總理陸克文（Kevin Rudd，1980 年來臺）、日本前首相橋本龍太郎等各國知名人士，都曾來本校國語中心學習中文。²³ 師大國語中心至今仍以中文教學聞名國際，已經是全球華文教學的重要品牌。

貳、邁向新局：國立臺灣師範大學品牌的建立

民國 56 年，因應臺北市改制為院轄市，基於省、市分治原則，本校由省立臺灣師範大學改制為國立臺灣師範大學。²⁴ 其後在臺灣政治、社會變遷及高等教育轉型的變化中，「臺師大」逐漸成為優良師資與專業研究並重的綜合大學。

為因應民國 57 年（1968）將實施的九年國民教育，國中師資需求孔急，本校於 56 年獲撥今日公館校區土地，教學空間大為擴增，得以培育更多中學教師。經過數年建設，理學院及教育、歷史、三民主義等研究所於 64 年（1975）正式遷往公館校區（習稱師大分部）。²⁵ 95 年，在教育部政策支持下，本校與國立僑生大學先修班合併，

built.¹⁹ Thirdly, he hired well-known academics and experts to become teachers at the College, such as Huang Chun-Pi, Pu Hsin-Yu (Department of Fine Arts), Liang Shih-Chiu (Department of English), Yang Liang-Gong (Department of Education), Chen Ko-Chung (Department of Physics), Sha Hsueh-Chuen (Department of History and Geography). When the College was upgraded to university status in 1955 and became Taiwan Provincial Normal University, Liu established still further expansion of the campus.²⁰

From the end of the war to the passing of Teacher Education Act in the 1990s, the school has been Taiwan's main center for secondary school teacher training. With the support of the government policy, it has become an institution with excellent teachers and teaching resources, which attracts outstanding young students to come and study. In addition to training specialized secondary school teachers, the school branched out into new directions of education based on changes in Taiwanese society and international politics.

Under the policy of accepting American assistance, beginning in the early 1950s, the school received assistance from Pennsylvania State University, promoting the required teachers for technical industry training and housework coaching. In 1953, the Department of Industrial Education and Department of Home Economics Education were developed independently. For the next decade, the departments were Taiwan's center for industrial education and home economics education, settled on a stable foundation.²¹

The school also worked with the US-based Asia Society to set up the English Language Training Center to improve English language teaching and research, a pioneer of English language teaching in Taiwan. Currently, NTNU's English language teaching and Chinese-English translation and interpreting are world-class. In 2020, the University was selected by the Ministry of Education as the bilingual benchmark university, and the Center for Academic Literacy was also established on-campus in 2021.

Third, in 1949, after the Republic of China government moved to Taiwan, in order to gain overseas Chinese recognition of the Republic of China, various policies were made that were preferential to overseas Chinese, including welcoming overseas Chinese students to enter Taiwanese schools. In 1950, this school began admitting overseas Chinese students; in 1954, an overseas Chinese specialized teacher training course was set up to train overseas Chinese language teachers. Many overseas Chinese students returned to their home countries to teach at secondary schools after graduating from NTNU and were well-received, allowing the school to establish good contacts and an excellent reputation in the overseas Chinese diaspora.²² In 2006, the course was integrated with the National University Preparatory School for Overseas Chinese Students to form the Academy of Preparatory Programs for Overseas Chinese Students.

Mandarin Training Center was also established in 1956 with the help of the government's overseas teaching policy. The Center attracted students from abroad to study Chinese in Taiwan, and foreign people were accepted into the school. The former Australian prime minister, Kevin Rudd, came to Taiwan in 1980, and former Japanese prime minister Hashimoto Ryutaro and other national leaders all came to this school to learn Chinese.²³ The NTNU Mandarin Training Center to this day remains internationally renowned for Chinese teaching, and is already a major name in Chinese language teaching worldwide.

而取得林口校區，今日師大4大主要校區於此形成，目前學校總面積共45.5公頃。²⁶

1970至80年代，因應教學實際需求及學科知識日趨專精，本校不斷新設院、系、所，大部分科系也陸續增設碩、博士班，以提升研究水準。民國59年（1970）獲得世界銀行貸款，用以補助工教系、理學院各系興建教學大樓、補強實驗設備，提升本校理工教育教學品質。²⁷同時，社會上對高等教育的需求逐漸增加，學生人數漸多。各校區陸續增建新大樓，在軟硬體各方面皆有長足的進展。²⁸隨著研究水準提升，與國際學術的交流也日漸緊密，開始與歐美各國大學及學術機構簽定合作條約，提升本校在國際學術界的能見度。本校目前國際學術交流活動興盛，截至111年2月與本校簽定姊妹校的國外校院達389校，每年平均有上千人次交換生。²⁹

在改制為國立大學至今的50餘年間，民國83年（1994）《師資培育法》的頒布，對本校來說是一個重要的轉捩點。戰後臺灣的師資培育原由師範校院負責，為因應57年實施九年國民教育，教育部一度開放臺大、中興、政大及成大等4所學校辦理教育科目。³⁰雖然有少數學校在特定時期，得以培育中等師資，但整體而言，本

II. Relocating: Creating the NTNU Brand

In 1967, because of Taipei City being restructured into a municipality under the direct control of Executive Yuan, and due to the principles of provincial and city governance, Taiwan Provincial Normal University was restructured to become National Taiwan Normal University.²⁴ Among the changes in Taiwanese politics and society, higher education was transformed. NTNU gradually became a comprehensive university, offering both outstanding teacher training and specialized research.

Due to the 9-year compulsory education implemented in 1968, the demand gap for junior high school teachers was urgent. In 1967, NTNU obtained the land of the present Gongguan Campus, greatly increasing teaching space and enabling the training of more secondary school teachers. After several years of construction, the institutes of science, education, history and the Institute of the Three Principles of the People were officially moved to the Gongguan Campus in 1975 (known as NTNU branch).²⁵ In 2006, with the support of Ministry of Education's policy, the University was merged with the National University Preparatory School for Overseas Chinese Students, and acquired Linkou Campus. The four main campuses remain today, occupying a total area of 45.5 hectares.²⁶

In the 1970s and 1980s, due to teaching practice requirements and gradual specialization of subject knowledge, new colleges, departments and institutes were continuously being founded, and most of the departments were successively enlarged and given doctoral status to increase the standard of research. In 1970, a loan from the World Bank was used to subsidize Department of Industrial Education and departments of College of Sciences to construct teaching buildings. Experimental engineering equipment was purchased to improve teaching quality in science and engineering education.²⁷ At the same time, the demand for higher education in society was increasing, and student numbers were gradually rising. Each campus successively added new buildings, and remarkable progress was made on the facilities.²⁸ The improvement in the research

然而在民主化與多元化的時代，社會上開始討論獨占性的師資培育是否適當，最後決定走向開放師資培育管道。³¹ 民國83年《師資培育法》通過，一般大學校院亦可辦理各類教育學程，師資培育從「一元、計畫、公費」轉向「多元、開放、自費」。³² 師範校院改以自費生為主，就職不再受到國家保障，須與一般大學師培生在師資市場上公平競爭。師資來源多元化，對於社會多元化來說，具有正面意義。同時，卻也導致師培機構面臨退場困難等問題。³³

standard was closely linked with international academic exchanges. The school began signing memoranda of cooperation with other universities and academic institutions in Europe and the USA, increasing its visibility in international academia. There are currently plenty of international academic exchange exercises; as of February 2022, 389 foreign institutions have signed sister school contracts with NTNU, and every year on average over a thousand exchange visits take place.²⁹

In the 50 years since restructuring, the promulgation of the 1994 Teacher Education Act was a major turning point for the university. After the war, Taiwan's teacher training was originally the responsibility of Taiwan Provincial Teachers College. When the 9-year compulsory education was implemented in 1968, the Ministry of Education opened NTU, National Chung Hsing University, National Chengchi University and National Cheng Kung University to conduct the nation's education.³⁰ Although several were able to train secondary school teachers, NTNU has the longest history of training secondary school teachers, providing teachers of stable quality and quantity was its major contribution.

However, in the new age of democratization and diversification, society began to consider whether standalone teacher training was suitable. Finally, the decision was made to open up teacher training channels.³¹ In 1994, the "Teacher Education Act" was passed, meaning all universities and colleges could also conduct all kinds of teaching courses. Teacher training went from "one source, planned, publicly funded" to "diverse, open, self-funded."³² NTNU changed to relying on self-funded students, and a job was no longer guaranteed by the country, teachers had to enter the job market in competition with all other trainee teachers. Teacher source diversification, as far as the diversification of society is concerned, did have a positive influence. But at the same time, the new issues such as the difficulty for teacher training institutes to leave the teacher training system.³³

The way out for trainee teachers was no longer guaranteed by the government, and it seemed like a crisis in the beginning to the University, an original teacher training institute, but it was also a turn for the better. In the authoritarian period, the costs of the government guarantee of employment were forceful management, strict teaching, and rigid thinking. In the age of gradual democratization

30 In 1979, the Teacher Education Act was announced, and teacher education was changed to being handled by teachers colleges and the Dept. of Education of National Cheng-chi University. In 1987, teachers college post-graduate education programs began to enroll non-teacher college ordinary graduates to study to become teachers. 師培生出路不再受到國家保障，看起來對以師資培育為出發點的本校是一個危機，但也是轉機。在威權時期，出路受到國家保障的代價，是高強度的管理與規訓，以及思想的僵化。在社會逐漸走向民主化、多元化的時代，理應作為社會良知的高等教育機構，自然也不能停留在原地，執著於威權時代被保障的特權。師培開放以後，本校一方面致力於固守優良的師資培育傳統，一方面也在過去的學術基礎上，走向教學與研究並重的綜合型大學。

and diversification of society, higher education institutions that should act as social conscience naturally could not remain where they were, clinging to the privileged guarantees of authoritarianism. After teacher training channels opened up, NTNU was devoted to defending the excellent teacher training tradition, while also using the foundation of past learning to move towards an integrated university that gives equal value to teaching and research.

The Departments for Chinese, English, history and geography, physics and chemistry, sports, music and arts were initially established because of the demand for teacher training. They all had exceptional results built on a foundation of decades of training. In the process of transforming the school, each department continued to teach, while also developing new specialized research.

Following the launch of Taiwan's localization policy in the 1990s, as well as changes in Taiwan and abroad, the overseas education policy that targeted Chinese people in Hong Kong, Macau, and Southeast Asia was progressively adjusted, and began to recruit international students worldwide. In 2006, Department of Chinese Language and Culture and Department of East Asian Studies were established after merging with the National University Preparatory School for Overseas Chinese Students. In 2014 the College of International Studies and Social Sciences was established with the main target of recruiting international students; every year the number of international students admitted continues to grow.³⁴

In an era of internationalization, academics around the world are beginning to notice that the more localized research is, the more opportunities there are for globalization. In this kind of network, NTNU also began to pay attention to deepening historical, linguistic and cultural research, and in 2003 it established the Graduate Institute of Taiwan Culture, Languages and Literature (renamed the Department of Taiwan Culture, Languages and Literature in 2011) and the Graduate Institute of Taiwan History in 2004. As of 2021, the entire school had 9 colleges (including 31 departments, 22 graduate institutes), as well as 7 university-level centers, pursuing development in all fields including humanities and sciences, on a local and international level.³⁵

III. Democratic Transformation: NTNU's democratization in recent years

Since the 1990s, Taiwanese society has moved towards democratization, and every university began to focus on campus incidents from the authoritarian period, reopening investigations, reassessing, reopening dialogues and forming consensus. NTNU has made progress in campus democratization, as evidenced by these four points:

First, in 1992, the University began promoting the election of the President. In the long period from the end of the war to the 1980s, the presidents of public colleges were all assigned by the government. Since the 1990s, academia began advocating independent universities and teacher-led schools. In 1992, due to President Liang Shang-Yong's term ending after 6 months, many teachers on campus signed a petition requesting a newly elected president chosen through a democratic

東亞學系等，103年（2014）更成立國際與社會科學學院，以招收國際學生為主要目標，每年招收的國際學生都在持續成長中。³⁴

在國際化的時代，各國學術界開始注意到，越是在地化的研究，越有機會往全球化發展。在這樣的脈絡中，本校也對應世界性的學術潮流，更加注重深化臺灣本土的歷史、語言及文化研究，而於民國92年（2003）成立臺灣文化與語言文學研究所（2011年改制為臺灣語文學系），93年（2004）成立臺灣史研究所。至110年為止，全校有9個學院（包括31個學系、22個研究所），以及7個校級中心，兼顧人文、科學、在地、國際各領域的發展。³⁵

參、民主轉型：近年師大校園民主化動向

1990年代以後，臺灣社會走向民主化，各大學也開始關注過去威權時期的校園事件，重啟調查、重新反思、重啟對話，凝聚共識。本校相關校園民主化進展，可舉以下4點為例。

第一，民國81年（1992）推動校長遴選。戰後至1980年代的長時間裡，國內公立大專院校校長皆由政府派任。1990年代以降，學界開始主張大學自主、教授治校。81年，由於梁尚勇校長將於隔年6月任期屆滿，校內多位教師發起連署、要求新任校長由民主程序遴選產生。經本校校長人選遴選委員會的推動，順利於82年（1993）6月選出呂溪木先生擔任第九任校長。同一時期，臺大亦推動校長自選，與本校共同成為校園民主化先例。兩校創舉亦影響政府修訂《大學法》，使得此後大學校長得以超越黨派、民主治校。³⁶

第二，對四六事件進行調查與受害學生平反。民國85年（1996）呂溪木校長任內，本校文學院與相關團體先行推動「四六事件調查」作業，同年亦與臺大、監察院共同聘請學者與學生代表組成「四六事件研究小組」。³⁷86年（1997），師大四六事件研究小組提出相關研究報告，考察事件起因、經過及影響，並建議將本案移交

process. Through the promotion of NTNU's president selection committee, in June 1993, teacher Lu Hsi-Mu was chosen as the 9th president. During the same period, NTU also promoted the free choice of president, and along with NTNU became the first campuses to democratize. The pioneering work of the two schools also influenced government revision of the "University Act", which allowed university heads to transcend politics and rule democratically.³⁶

Second, the school conducted an investigation of the April 6 incident with a view to providing redress for victims. In 1996, while Lu Hsi-Mu was President, NTNU College of Liberal Arts and other organizations carried out the "April 6 Incident Investigation." The same year, NTNU, together with NTU and the Control Yuan, engaged academics and student representatives to form the "April 6 Incident Research Group."³⁷ In 1997, the April 6 Incident Research Group published their report, observing the causes, process and impacts of the incident, and proposed this case be handed over to the Control Yuan for the investigation to compensate the victims and include the event in the historical record of the University.³⁸ On May 29, 1999, the "April 6 Incident Commemoration and Victim Conference" was convened for the first time, exonerating and compensating the victims.³⁹

NTNU has gone to great efforts to face up to the history of the April 6 incident, including taking into account the viewpoints of the faculty and students. The school has published special publications "Taiwan Provincial Teachers College April 6 Incident" (2001), "Recreating Student Protest: April 6 Incident Commemoration Campaign" (2012). In 2016, the official school record was expanded and corrected, and since the 2017 school year "April 6 Commemoration Day" has been added to the school calendar.⁴⁰ Students also autonomously hold April 6 related activities every year, such as the "NTNU April 6 Commemoration Concert" held by the student union in

本校正視四六事件歷史之努力，包括校方及學生兩個層面。學校方面，出版專書《臺灣省立師範學院四六事件》（2001）、「學潮再現：四六紀念活動」（2012），納入民國105年（2016）增修校史之正式紀錄，並自106學年度起在學校行事曆加入「四六事件紀念日」。⁴⁰ 學生也每年自發舉辦四六事件相關活動，如105年學生會舉辦「師大四六節紀念音樂會」，110年「黎明破曉前」學生團隊自發帶隊尋訪四六事件與白色恐怖場景。⁴¹

第三，校齡認定上推至大正11年臺北高校之創立。過去本校以民國35年6月省立師院的成立為校史開端，不採計日本時代學校前身的歷史。原因主要來自兩方面，一是中華民國學制與戰前日本學制不同，過去未能充分了解或重視民國34年政權轉換過程中的學校演變過程及其間的連續性；二是戰後長期在「中國民族主義史

Third, tracing the school back to its roots leads us to the creation of Taihoku Higher School in 1922. Previously, the creation of Taiwan Provincial Teachers College in June 1946 was considered the beginning of the school's history, not counting the predecessor in the period of Japanese occupation. This omission was for two main reasons: one reason was that the education system of the Republic of China was very different from the previous Japanese education system, and the value of the school's development process and its continuity through the 1945 regime change were not adequately understood; the other reason was that for a long time after the war, viewed through the lens of “Chinese nationalism,” the history of the Japanese colonial period was not valued or was purposefully avoided.

From October 17, 1995, the school affairs meeting standing committee proposed that NTNU begin inviting expert academics to discuss the topic of the school's age, and on January 17, 1996, the committee decided to carry out research.⁴² In April 2012, it convened the “NTNU public hearing on determining the school's age” to hear a range of opinions. In 2018, with Wu Zheng-Ji as president, NTNU accepted the suggestions of all parties both within and outside the school. A consensus was reached, and on November 21 of the same year, the committee resolved to integrate the history of Taihoku Higher School into the history of NTNU.⁴³

The fourth way in which NTNU has advanced campus democratization, it has revised the lyrics of its university song, implementing democratic campus transformation. During preparations for its hundredth anniversary, NTNU resolved, in response to the changing times, to amend its university song, which was written in 1948. In 2019, a group of representatives from government agencies, alumni, teachers and students was established as the “university song task force,” and through the course of repeated discussions, they decided on the theme of “combining old and new, seeking consensus.” The two versions of lyrics will now be displayed side by side, and by retaining the melody and providing the new version of the lyrics, they connect alumni from different eras and students’ memories and emotions. The new lyrics were created by College of Liberal Arts and College of Music and laid over the original tune. On November 24, 2021, the song was approved at a school affairs meeting.⁴⁴ The new edition of the university song lyrics displays the cultural spirit of the school, and its hundred years of history, and reveals the new vision for the school's future development.

自民國 84 年（1995）10 月 17 日校務會議常設委員會提案起，本校開始邀請專家學者討論校齡上推議題，並於 85 年 1 月 17 日校務會議議決進行研議。⁴² 2012 年 4 月，召開「國立臺灣師範大學校齡認定公聽會」持續意見磨合。107 年在吳正己校長任內，採納校內外各方意見，凝聚校友共識，並於同年 11 月 21 日校務會議決議將臺北高等學校的歷史納入本校校史。⁴³

第四，增訂新版校歌歌詞，實行校園民主轉型。本校在籌備百年校慶紀念之際，即決議因應時代變

The foundation of the nation is education, and teaching is especially important.
Learn diligently, advance integrity and maintain good health.
The different colleges and departments go separate ways, but their roots are the same. To impart education for greatness in the future are the duties of the teachers.
Help and encourage each other, do not forget your passion and dedication.
Taiwan is full of greatness, return to our homeland in joy and contentment.
When education brings all together, the world will be united.
When education brings all together, the world will be united.

IV. Future outlook: NTNU's People in a New Age

On the whole, NTNU's hundred years of history has been very fluid, one could say it is a microcosm of Taiwan's political, economic, social and historical changes over the last century.

From Taihoku Higher School to National Taiwan Normal University, since its foundation, this school has borne the influence of the demands of different regimes and governance. In the Japanese colonial period, the colonial regime founded the elite education institute Taihoku Higher School in 1922, and its liberal style of education was inherited after the war by Taipei High School, influencing Taiwan Provincial Teachers College that was founded in 1946. Teachers College trained secondary school teachers, but removing colonial ideology and reestablishing Chinese culture was the goal of its creation; after April 6, 1949, the campus atmosphere became more conservative. With the help of the USA in the 1950s, as well as training general high school subject teachers, the school developed industrial technical and housekeeping courses, and in line with the government's policy on overseas Chinese, admitted foreign students and sent teachers abroad to spread Chinese language education. Later, in the Provincial and National Normal University periods, the school combined the two traditions of teacher training and university-level higher education, in response to the demands of the times and progress and development.

In the 1990s, Taiwanese society moved toward democratization, and the school's previously preserved teacher training specialty was also faced with opening up and competition, prompting the school to transform into a comprehensive university and giving equal importance to teacher training and academic research. In response to the impact of the teacher training field opening up to competition, the school integrated its existing teacher training resources, and continued to train teachers for high school, special education and kindergarten, helping trainee teachers maintain their competitive advantage in the teacher selection process. At the same time, NTNU also responded to the demands of the era by adding facilities and diversifying departments and programs to help ambitious general teachers to explore their full potential. Overseas Chinese education, which in the past the school had done its utmost to develop in line with government policy, was adapted to the demands of globalization and expanded into overseas Chinese language education, attracting more foreign students from different countries. In addition, the previous exchange cooperation with foreign higher education institutions was continued, and academic exchange links with European and Asian universities were expanded.

綜觀本校百年校史流轉，可說是臺灣近百年以來政經社會歷史變遷的縮影。從臺北高校至國立臺灣師範大學時期，本校的設立、承繼深受不同政權不同統治需求之影響。日本時代，殖民政權在大正 11 年建立菁英教育的臺北高等學校，其自由學風為戰後臺北高中繼承，亦影響民國 35 年成立省立臺灣師範學院。省立師院係為培育中學師資，以去除殖民思想、重建中華文化為目的而成立，於 38 年四六事件後，校風趨向保守。1950 年代在美援協助下，本校除培育一般中學學科師資外，亦發展工業技職、家政等教育領域，並配合政府華僑政策而招收僑生、派員至海外推廣中文教育。其後的省立、國立臺灣師範大學時期，也承繼此一結合「師範學校」、「大學高等教育」兩立的傳統，因應時代需求而逐步發展。

In summary, while the school has preserved the “teacher training” in its Chinese name (師範), it also does not limit itself and has moved towards becoming a comprehensive university that combines its equal strengths of teacher training, arts and sciences. Through the collaboration of previous teaching and administrative staff, students and alumni, the school now commemorates the hundredth anniversary of its founding. In the future, it will continue to build on this firm foundation, and train NTNU alumni who are able to face the various challenges of the age.

至 1990 年代臺灣社會邁向民主化，本校過往維持的師資培育專業也面臨開放、競爭，促使本校轉型為師資培育、學術研究並重之綜合大學。為因應師培領域開放競爭的衝擊，本校整合既有師培資源，持續培育中等學校、特殊教育及幼兒園 3 類師資，協助師培生在教師甄試過程中保持競爭優勢。同時，亦因應時代需求增設多樣化系所、學程，以助有志多元發展的一般生發掘自我潛能。過往傾力配合政策所發展的華僑教育，因應全球化需求而擴大為海外中文教育，吸引更多不同國家的外籍學生入學。此外，延續以往與國外高等教育機構之交流合作，更擴大為與歐亞各國大學校院深化交流學術人才。

綜上所述，本校雖維持「師範」之名，卻又不自我設限，而走向兼具師資培育專業、人文理工領域均有所長的綜合大學。在歷屆教職員、學生、校友共同努力之下，如今迎來建校 100 週年紀念。今後，亦將於此堅實基礎上，持續發展，培育出能夠面對不同時代多元挑戰的師大人。

臺灣總督府臺北高等學校（以下簡稱臺北高校）是日本的舊制高等學校之一（共 38 所），為殖民地臺灣唯一的高等學校。所謂舊制高校，乃是相對於現行、屬中等教育的新制高校而言，係明治時期到二次大戰結束日本高等教育機關之一環，用以培養準備就讀官公立大學的男學生。能通過升學難關、就讀這所莘莘學子憧憬的臺北高校的青年，畢業後多數進入各帝國大學或醫科大學等就讀，接著成為官僚、教授、醫生、企業高層等，成為日本與臺灣社會各領域的領導階層，且有不少人是國家級的菁英。

本文針對臺北高校的創校經緯與建築設施、學生來源與畢業概況、學生社團與住宿生活、戰時與戰後的日本人臺北高校師生、臺灣人臺北高校校友與戰後臺灣加以說明，並在結語中略述近年來臺北高校研究的興起及其意義，期能增進讀者對臺北高校的特色與歷史意義有更深切的理解。

日治中期臺灣在「內地延長主義」的政策方針下，首任文官總督田健治郎（1919-1923 年在任）推動各項改革，其中包括對教育制度之調整，尤其重要的是大正 11 年（1922）總督府公布之新「臺灣教育令」。該令規定中等以上的教育設施（師範學校除外）開放「內臺共學」（日本人與臺灣人共學之意），使臺灣的學制與日本內地趨於一致。該令公布之後，作為高等教育機關的「臺灣總督府高等學校」於同年成立，臺北帝國大學則於昭和 3 年（1928）成立。自明治 28 年（1895）日本統治以降，總督府設立各級新式教育機構，至此可謂建置完備的體系。

大正 11 年 4 月 1 日，總督府以府令公布「臺灣總督府高等學校規則」，松村傳出任第一任校長。臺北高校係 7 年制高校，先設 4 年制的尋常科，借用臺北州立第一中學校（今建國中學）的部分空間作為臨時校舍，開始進行教學，復於大正 14 年（1925）設 3 年制的高等科，同年 5 月三澤糾接任第二任校長。大正 15 年（1926）4 月，「普通教室」（今國立臺灣師範大學普通大樓）與「生徒控所」（學生活動的空間，今文薈廳）竣工，校舍從臺北一中所在的龍口町移轉至古亭町（今臺師大和平校區 I），當時曾舉行盛大的祝賀儀式。昭和 2 年（1927）5 月，校名改為「臺灣總督府臺北高等學校」，一般簡稱臺北高校。昭和 3 年 11 月，本館（今臺師大行政大樓）竣工，翌年（昭和 4 年，1929）10 月，本館頂樓設置三澤校長購自美國之校鐘，

Taihoku Higher School under the Taiwanese Governor-General (hereinafter referred to as "Taihoku Higher School") was one of the 38 schools of the old Japanese higher school system, and the only one in colonial Taiwan. Unlike modern colleges which are a part of secondary education, the old system schools were part of the establishment from the Meiji period to the end of WWII, and were used to cultivate male students for attending public universities. Entrance to Taihoku Higher School was the envy of many young boys, and almost all of those who were able to pass the difficult entrance exam entered Imperial Universities or Medical Universities after graduation. Many of them would go on to become bureaucrats, professors, doctors, or corporate leaders, as well as national leaders, making up the ruling class of Japan and Taiwan.

This article describes the major details of the establishment of the school and its facilities, the origins of its students and their graduation profiles, student associations and dormitory life, Japanese alumni during and after the war, Taiwanese alumni, and postwar Taiwan. The concluding remarks and outlines the increase in research into Taihoku Higher School over the last few years and its significance, with the aim of providing the reader with a deeper understanding of the characteristics and historic significance of the school.

I. Creation of the School and its Facilities

Under the Japanese expansionism policy in the middle of the Japanese Colonial Period, the first civilian Governor-General of Taiwan, Den Kenjiro (in office 1919-1923), enacted various reforms, including changes to the education system. In particular, in 1922 (Taisho 11th year), the Governor-General Office of Taiwan announced the new "Taiwan Education Order". This order decreed that all educational institutions above middle school level (excluding teacher-training schools) would open as “Japan-Taiwan joint schools” (meaning Japanese and Taiwanese studying together), to make Taiwan’s education system identical to that on the Japanese mainland. After the order was announced, “The Higher School under the Governor-General Office of Taiwan” was founded as a higher education institution that same year, followed by Taipei Imperial University in 1928 (Showa 3rd year). Since the beginning of Japanese rule in 1895, the Governor-General Office set up new education institutions at all levels, creating a complete system that largely survives to this day.

1920 年代後期，在當時仍有大片田野的古亭町，臺北高校美輪美奐的建築陸續竣工。目前在臺師大校內，現存的臺北高校建築共有 4 處，即行政大樓、普通大樓、文薈廳、禮堂（臺北高校的講堂，昭和 4 年 6 月竣工）。至於臺北高校學生的宿舍「七星寮」，以及游泳池、網球場等設施，則大抵使用至 1980 年代，而改建成現今的文學院大樓等設施。上述臺師大校內保留歷史風情的紅磚瓦建築，已於民國 92 年（2003）被指定為臺北市定古蹟，與本部其他現代化的建築共存，提供師生從事各種學術與教學等活動。

臺北高校的師資陣容甚佳，歷任校長有 5 人，依序是松村傳、三澤糾、下村虎六郎（1929 年 11 月接任）、谷本清心（1931 年 9 月接任，任期長達 10 年）、下川

On April 1, 1922 (Taisho 11th year), the Governor-General Office of Taiwan promulgated the “Rules of the Higher School under the Taiwanese Governor-General”, and Matsumura Den took up the post as the first principal. The school offered a seven-year program that began with four years of general studies, initially using part of the grounds of Taipei First Middle School (now the Taipei Municipal Jianguo High School) as a temporary campus. From 1925 (Taisho 14th year), this was followed by three years of advanced studies, and in May of the same year Misawa Tadasu took over as the second principal. In April 1926 (Taisho 15th year), the General Classrooms (now Administration Building II, NTNU) and the Student Center (a space for student activities, now Wenhui Hall) were completed. The campus was relocated from Taipei First Middle School in Ryukochō district to what is now the NTNU Heping Campus I in Koteicho district, and a grand opening ceremony was held. In May 1927 (Showa 2nd year), the school’s name was changed to Taihoku Higher School under the Taiwanese Governor-General, or simply Taihoku Higher School. In November 1928 (Showa 3rd year), the main building (now the NTNU Administrative Building) was completed, and in October next year, a bell purchased from the United States by Principal Misawa was installed at the top of the building. Known as the Liberty Bell, it became one of the important symbols of Taihoku Higher School along with the school badge and the first school song written by Principal Misawa (the Chinese lyrics translated by Lin Feng-An).

First School Song of Taihoku Higher School

Clouds wreath the Mountains of Lions The blazing fire hangs on the Blue	Mist dances on the Seven Star Mountains The noble ideal is in my mind
The warriors and their steeds never stop	The endeavor for knowledge never pauses
Infinite and profound future ahead	Progress in learning is as swift as the wind
When the fragrance and blooms fill my heart	Joy and Thrill leads the youth
We sing the song, wander at the sky	And envision ourselves in the upcoming years
Training and Sweats in the Field	Heroes and Heroes from will not yields
Fists and armors with hundreds of chains	We carry the dreams and ambitions in our veins
We sing the song when we return with glory	When stars move its pose and time marks its story
Hail! Hold to the Righteous and the will	Youth will pass away in a hurry
Time crept without feeling sorry	Time strolled. Time gone.
Before all things turn to ashes,	Let's join hands and sing a song and sense the joy and pride lifelong.

The late 1920s saw the successive completion of Taihoku Higher School’s magnificent buildings at Koteicho district. Four of these buildings remain on the current NTNU campus: Administration Building, Administration Building II, Wenhui Hall and the Assembly Hall (Taihoku

履信（1941年8月接任），均出身東京帝國大學。此外，臺北高校的多數教師亦畢業於東京帝國大學，足見教師群素質之高。學生在良好的師資薰陶下，置身於優美的校園環境中，較同年齡的學子享有充分的自由，可以探索本身潛力，準備升入帝國大學或其他高等教育機關。

尋常科學生的來源，係招收小學校與公學校畢業生，每年招收1班，僅40人可以入學；能考進尋常科的學童，其資質可謂非比尋常。高等科則招收4班，總共160名，學生有來自尋常科直升者，以及各地中學校（亦包括日本國內）出身者。換言之，只有約120個名額保留給中學校學生（中學校修業年限定為5年，但修畢4年即可報考高校）。尋常科與高等科的各年級建置完備之後，全校共有16班，約600人在校。高等科又分文、理兩科，各有甲、乙兩類（班）；這是依主修外語之別，分為甲類（主修英語，副修德語）、乙類（主修德語，副修英語），臺灣人多數就讀理科乙類，以備將來習醫。無論甲類或乙類，高校教育極重視學生的外語能力與人文素養，高校生透過上課學習與涉獵大量的課外書籍，奠定堅實的學養，從中確定未來的人生方向。

關於中學校與臺北高校之關係，有必要進一步說明。日治時期官方設立的男子中學校，最早是明治31年（1898）設置的臺灣總督府國語學校第四附屬學校，明治40年（1907）改稱臺灣總督府中學校，即後來的臺北州立臺北第一中學校。第二所是大正3年（1914）成立的臺灣總督府臺南中學校，即後來的臺南州立臺南第一中學校（今臺南二中）。以上兩所旨在提供在臺日本人子弟接受與內地相同的教育。而以臺灣人子弟為對象的中學校，最早是大正4年（1915）成立的公立臺中中學校（今臺中一中），惟修業年限定為4年，教科內容與程度亦低於其他中學校。大正11年新「臺灣教育令」公布之後，同年4月總督府設立5所州立中學校；至昭和17年（1942）為止，日治時期官方設立的男子中學校共有17所。其中，臺中一中、臺北州立第二中學校（今成功高中）、臺南州立第二中學校（今臺南一中）等以臺灣人為主體，其餘則以日本為主或日臺人共學。中學校畢業生在臺灣可報考高等學校、高等農林學校、高等商業學校、高等工業學校、醫學專門學校等校，或前往日本留學。

無論是中學校或臺北高校，均只招收有限的名額，因此入學考試競爭相當激烈。對臺灣人而言，要考進臺北高校非常不容易。未能考上尋常科者，有人改念中學，也有人於中學第四學年修了後考上高等科，有的則重考進入臺北高校。落榜者

Higher School's auditorium, completed in June 1929). The "Shichisei Dormitories," swimming pool, tennis court and other facilities mostly remained in use right up until the 1980s, when they were replaced with modern facilities such as the Building of College of Liberal Arts. These NTNU red-brick buildings in the historical style were designated historical site status in 2003; they exist in harmony with the modern buildings of the main campus and house a variety of learning and teaching activities.

II. Origins of Students and Graduation Profiles

Taihoku Higher School's faculty was of a very high caliber. Its five successive principals were: Matsumura Den, Misawa Tadasu, Simomura Torarokuro (took over in November 1929), Tanimoto Kiyomune (in the post for 10 years from September 1931) and Shimokawa Rishin (took over in August 1941), all graduated from Tokyo Imperial University. Most of the teachers at Taihoku Higher School also graduated from Tokyo Imperial University, which goes to show the high level of teaching staff. In comparison with other boys at their age, the students enjoyed a great deal of freedom and the guidance of the excellent teachers combined with the superb campus environment. They were able to explore their full potential in preparation to progress to an imperial university or other higher education establishment.

Students were admitted to the general studies course from elementary schools for Japanese and public elementary schools for Taiwanese, with only one class of 40 admitted each year, and great aptitude was required to pass the entrance exam. The advanced studies course was recruited from general studies graduates as well as other middle schools around the country (including Japan). Four classes were admitted with a total of 160 students. In other words, only around 120 places were given to middle school students (the middle school study period was 5 years, but students could apply for college after completing 4 years of study). After all grades of general and advanced studies were established, the school had a total of 16 classes with around 600 students. Advanced studies were divided into arts and sciences, and each had A and B groups depending on the main language. Group A used English as the first language, with German as the second language. In group B, German was the first language and English the second. Most Taiwanese students were in science group B, in preparation for studying medicine. Groups A and B of advanced studies both attached great importance to students' foreign language ability and achievement in humanities.

之中有人因此未再升學，或逕赴日本留學，但可以這麼認為，敢於報考臺北高校的人，無論成敗已足以證明其能力較同儕出色。

昭和3年3月，臺北高校送出第一屆畢業學生74人（文科26人，理科48人）。畢業生詳細名單刊登於總督府的《府報》，以及該校每年出版的一覽，之後成為慣例。總計自昭和3年至民國35年（1946）為止，第一至第二十一屆高等科的臺灣人畢業生約有630位，日本人則多達約兩千人。臺北高校的學生來自中學校者，約占高等科學生數的四分之三，又以島內的州立中學校居多。其中，臺北二中是北部地區臺灣人學子最嚮往的中學校，迄日治末期約有180名畢業生進入臺北高校就讀，進而邁向帝國大學或醫科大學的菁英之路；在臺北高校臺灣人校友中，北二中校友即佔了三成，為各校之冠。

臺北高校培養文理雙全的國家菁英，整體而言，畢業生就讀文科者，專攻法政、經濟、文史等領域，就讀理科者專攻醫學、物理、化學、工學、農學等領域。畢業生與母校聯繫的管道是同窗會，同窗會設在校內，由在臺北的畢業生負責運作，平時校友不乏機會親近母校、拜訪老師、指導學弟。他們在高校階段建立的人脈，透過同期和前後輩的關係不斷擴張，成為終身受用的資源。

By studying in class and reading a large number of extracurricular books, advanced studies students would establish a solid base of learning which would determine their future life direction.

Some further explanation is required regarding the relationship between middle schools and Taihoku Higher School. Among the boy's middle schools set up by the Japanese colonial government, the earliest was the Fourth School Attached to the Language School of the Governor-General Office of Taiwan in 1898 (Meiji 31st year), which was renamed the Middle School of Governor-General Office of Taiwan in 1907 (Meiji 40th year) and later became the Taihoku First Middle School. The second was “Tainan Middle School under the Governor-General of Taiwan”, established in 1914 (Taisho 3rd year), which later became Tainan First Middle School (today known as National Tainan Second Senior High School). These two schools provided the children of Japanese people living in Taiwan with the same education offered on the mainland. The first middle school for Taiwanese students was Taichung Middle School, founded in 1915 (now Taichung First Senior High School). The study period was only four years, and the teaching content and level were below other middle schools. In 1922 (Taisho 11th year), after the publication of the new “Taiwan Education Order”, in April of the same year, Governor-General Office established five prefectural middle schools; up to 1942 (Showa 17th year), there were a total of 17 boy's middle schools established by the Japanese colonial government. Of these, Taichung First Middle School, Taihoku Second Middle School (today Cheng Gong High School), Tainan Second Middle School (today Tainan First Senior High School) were mainly for Taiwanese students and the rest were for Japanese or both Taiwanese and Japanese together. Middle school graduates in Taiwan could apply for higher schools, agricultural colleges, business colleges, medical specialist schools or study abroad in Japan.

Both middle schools and Taihoku Higher School only admitted a limited number of students, so competition in the entrance exam was very fierce. For Taiwanese people, passing the Taihoku Higher School entrance exam was incredibly difficult. Those who could not pass the general studies entrance exam would enter a middle school, and some of them would manage to transfer to advanced studies after the fourth year of middle school. Some would simply re-sit the entrance exam. Some of those who failed exams would be unable to progress to the next grade or study in Japan instead, but anyone who had the courage to take the entrance exam for Taihoku Higher School had already proved outstanding ability whether they succeeded or failed.

In March of 1928 (Showa 3rd year), Taihoku Higher School graduated its first year of 74 students (26 in arts and 48 in sciences). The list of graduates was published in the Governor-General's Official Announcement and the annual overview published by the school, which went on to become a school tradition. From the first class in 1928 to the 21st class in 1946, a total of 630 Taiwanese graduated from advanced studies, while there were around 2000 Japanese. Those coming from middle schools made up around $\frac{1}{4}$ of the students on the advanced course, and most Taiwanese came from the prefectural Middle schools. The most desirable of these schools among northern Taiwanese was Taihoku Second Middle School, and by the end of the Japanese rule, around 180 of its graduates had entered Taihoku Higher School. From there they would progress down the elite path of Imperial Universities or medical colleges; graduates of Taihoku Second Middle School made up 30% of Taiwanese students at Taihoku Higher School, more than any other middle school.

Taihoku Higher School educated the nation's elite in both arts and sciences, and on the whole, graduates going on to study the field of arts would major in subjects such as law, economics and history, while those who took sciences majored in subjects like medicine, physics, chemistry, engineering and industrial science. A graduate's contact with their alma mater was through alumni association, which were run by graduates on campus. There were usually plenty of opportunities for alumni to get close to the school, visit teachers and coach younger schoolmates. By constantly broadening their relationships during and after schooling, the connections they made while at the Higher School would become a lifelong resource.

參、學生社團與住宿生活

臺北高校學生除了課業學習和課外閱讀，部（社團）與寮（宿舍）的經驗也是形塑人格的關鍵。社團方面，有劍道、柔道、足球、曲棍球、橄欖球、陸上競技、棒球、網球、游泳……等社團，也有辯論部及其他文藝、研究性質的社團。學生在老師的指導下，以及與他校進行的交流、比賽中成長，社團生活可謂多采多姿。上述社團的動態，經常刊登於新聞部發行的《臺高》（1937年2月創刊，1940年底廢刊，共18期）。

高等科學生宿舍名為「七星寮」。大正14年高等科開設以後，為滿足學生住宿需求而設置學寮。當時的學寮位在臺北一中附近，為木造兩層樓建築，設備簡單。新七星寮則為新式水泥的兩層樓建築，設備充實。臺北高校並非全寮制，七星寮約容納數十人入住，至多約百人左右。每年的重要活動包括：迎新與送舊，配合「記念祭」（校慶）舉辦「寮祭」，此外平常有不少的運動賽事、文藝活動。其中，寮祭是年度最盛事，學生們練習寮祭歌與舞蹈，以求有精彩的表演；學生也會發揮創意裝飾房間，公開給外界參觀；有時學生會到熱鬧的街區去「ストーム」（Storm）、遊行。所謂ストーム，意指眾人勾肩搭背、排成橫隊，奔放地舞跳，時而有鼓聲助陣。七星寮住宿生在管理規範下生活，維持自治，彼此團結合作，為寮文化的傳承與創新貢獻己力。

III. Student Clubs and Dormitory Life

Besides studying in class and extracurricular reading, experience of clubs and dormitories were also a crucial part of life at Taihoku Higher School that shaped students' personalities. The school had clubs for kendo, judo, soccer, hockey, athletics, baseball, tennis and swimming, there was also debating society and other arts and research type clubs. Students matured under the guidance of the teachers, and along with the exchanges and competitions with other schools provided, club activities enabled students to add more strings to their bows. The development of these clubs was regularly documented in the magazine TaiKō published by News Club (18 editions in total from February 1937 to the end of 1940).

The accommodation for students of advanced studies was called the Shichisei Dormitory. It was built in 1925 (Taisho 14th year) to meet students' accommodation needs after the advanced studies course began. At that time, the dormitory was a two-story building made of wood near Taipei First Middle School, with basic facilities. The new Shichisei dormitory was a two-story cement structure with full facilities. Taihoku Higher School was not a fully residential system, so the Shichisei Dormitory only accommodated a few dozens of people, up to a maximum of around a hundred. Major annual events included: welcoming new students and seeing off graduates, holding the "dormitory festival" on the school's anniversary, and many sports competitions and arts events. The dormitory festival was the grandest occasion, and students would practice their song and dance in order to put on an impressive show; students could also creatively decorate their rooms, which guests were able to visit; sometimes, the students would take to the streets in a "storm" parade. The so-called "storm" meant that the students would jump and dance wildly in rows with their arms around each other's shoulders, often accompanied by the sound of drums and cheering. While the students of Shichisei Dormitory lived under supervision and regulations, they contributed to an innovative dormitory culture by managing themselves autonomously and cooperating with each other.

IV. Japanese Teachers and Students at Taihoku Higher School during and after the War

In July of 1937 (Showa 12th year), military conflict broke out between Japan and China, which expanded into total war. The war continued for many years, and the Governor-General Office tightened its control over the Taiwanese people. From the beginning of the war, some of the Taihoku Higher School graduates were conscripted into the army. By 1941 (Showa 16th year), Japan and the United States were at war, and the battlefield had expanded to other lands such as Southeast Asia. Towards the end of the war, the Governor-General Office doubled its efforts to mobilize the manpower and resources of Taiwan. Taihoku Higher School alumni who had already gone out into society to work, all felt the impact of the war in their respective fields. At the very end of the war, the "student soldiers" policy saw graduation day brought forward, so those who were still at

肆、戰時與戰後的日本人臺北高校師生

昭和 12 年（1937）7 月，日本與中國爆發軍事衝突，日後擴大為全面戰爭。這場戰爭持續多年，總督府對臺灣人的統治更加緊控制。從戰爭初期開始，臺北高校畢業生即有人被徵召入伍。到了昭和 16 年（1941）12 月日本與美國開戰，戰場擴大至東南亞等地，戰爭後期總督府更竭力動員臺灣的人力與物力。臺北高校校友已出社會工作者，在各自的領域受到戰爭的影響，而仍在大學就讀者，到了戰爭末期則因「學徒出陣」，面臨就學年限縮短、入伍受訓等嚴酷的考驗。

戰爭時期，臺灣各級學校日常運作受到戰爭不小的波及，臺北高校也不例外。高校生常見的長髮經過學生討論後，決定不再蓄留，於昭和 13 年（1938）4 月 1 日一齊斷髮。又如每年受到矚目的七星寮祭，到戰爭後期也走入歷史。戰爭也使臺北高校學生的就學年限縮短，從 3 年變成 2 年半，再減為 2 年。昭和 17 年 3 月，總督府因應教職員多赴戰場以致中等師資缺乏，在臺北高校之內附設「臨時教員養成所」，用以培養中學教師。到了昭和 20 年（1945）3 月，昭和 19 年（1944）與昭和 20 年入學臺北高校的學生因召集令發動而集體入伍，全校師生被編入陸軍部隊。這群高等科一、二年級的學生成為陸軍二等兵，在草山（陽明山）等地從事構築防備美軍登陸的工程等，過著辛苦的軍隊生活，他們後來自稱「蕉兵」。

如所周知，昭和 20 年戰局對日本愈發不利，3 月硫磺島的日軍「玉碎」（近乎全員喪生），4 月美軍登陸沖繩，日本本土岌岌可危。同年 7 月波茨坦宣言發表，要求「全日本國軍隊」無條件投降，並列舉各種投降條件；8 月美軍對廣島與長崎投下原子彈，14 日天皇在「御前會議」中決定終戰，翌日透過「玉音放送」宣布無條件投降。各地雖有企圖抗戰到底的零星騷動，大抵在盟軍最高統帥麥克阿瑟進駐前止熄。9 月 2 日，在東京灣的密蘇里號戰艦上，多國簽署「降伏文書」，日本進入長達 6 年半的被美國占領統治期。而原受日本統治的臺灣，則因中國政府代表盟軍執行軍事占領任務，由中國治理，其後臺灣各方面的情形每況愈下，對教育界也帶來諸多的衝擊。 university had to enlist and endure the bitter trials of the army.

昭和 20 年夏天戰爭結束之後，8 月 29 日臺北高校師生解除徵召，在學生雖然陸續復學，但學校經過接收後，12 月改制並易名為「臺灣省立臺北高級中學」，臺北高校的財產、建築物、設備儀器、一般備品、圖書、簿冊等移交至新學校。不久，日本人接受遣返回國，臺北高校日籍師生們各奔前程。

The war affected all levels of daily school life in no small way, and Taihoku Higher School was no exception. After discussion among students, they decided that the popular style among students of growing long hair would no longer be continued, and on April 1, 1938, they all cut their hair at the same time. The Shichisei Dormitory ceremony, which received so much attention every year, was also consigned to history towards the end of the war. The war also saw the term for students at Taihoku Higher School reduced, from three years to two and a half, and then reduced again to just two years. In March 1942 (Showa 17th year), due to so many teaching staff being sent to fight in the war, the Governor-General Office set up a “temporary teacher training center” within Taihoku Higher School in order to train more middle school teachers. In March 1945, the students who had entered Taihoku Higher School in 1944 and 1945 were conscripted into the army. The activation of the summoning order meant the entire school, students and teachers alike, were assigned to army troops. The students of advanced studies in grades 1 and 2 became army Privates, and they worked on engineering projects to defend against the United States landings at places like Mountain Yangming. They were forced to endure the arduous military life, and later called themselves “ShōHei (banana soldiers)”.

As is well documented, by 1945, the war situation was increasingly unfavorable to Japan, and in March, the Japanese troops on Iwo Jima were almost all killed. In April, the US Army landed on Okinawa, and Japan's mainland was in imminent danger. In July of the same year, the Potsdam Declaration was issued, demanding the unconditional surrender of the “entire Japanese army,” with various surrender conditions listed; in August, the US dropped atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and on the 14th, during a war meeting, the Emperor of Japan made the decision to end the war. He announced unconditional surrender the following day via the public broadcast system. Although there were sporadic pockets of resistance in various regions, they were mostly extinguished by the time General MacArthur arrived. The multilateral signing of the “Japanese Instrument of Surrender” took place on 2 September aboard the USS Missouri in Tokyo Bay. Japan entered six and a half years of the United States occupation, and the governance of Taiwan was transferred from Japan to China, with the role of military occupation given to the Allied forces. Taiwan's situation then steadily deteriorated in all respects, which also heavily impacted the academic world.

In the summer of 1945 (Showa 20th year), after the end of the war, the teachers and students of Taihoku Higher School were released from conscription on August 29. Although they were accepted as returning students, the school was restructured in December and renamed “Taiwan Provincial Taipei High School” (Taipei High School). The property, buildings, facilities, general equipment, books and records of Taihoku Higher School were all transferred to the new school. Soon after, the Japanese were repatriated, and Japanese teachers and students of Taihoku Higher School went their own way.

After the war, the Japanese had to leave Taiwan. Returning home from abroad they were faced with the challenges of new jobs, new schools and graduation. The top priority for them was living a stable life. Taihoku Higher School graduates of the previous few years were mostly born around 1910 (Meiji 43rd year), and they were in their 30s when Japan lost the war. Thanks to their exceptional aptitude, learning, foreign language abilities and extensive contacts, they were able to gain a foothold in Japanese society. While they were busy at work, reuniting the alumni associations became a common dream. Around 1950, small gatherings under the name “ShōYō (Banana Leaf)”

戰後日本人必須離開臺灣，而從外地回國的他們面臨就職、轉學、升學等現實的問題，當務之急是穩定生活。臺北高校前幾屆的畢業生約是明治43年（1910）前後出生，日本戰敗時年紀不過30多歲，他們憑藉本身優異的資質、學養、外語能力及豐沛的人脈，得以在日本社會站穩腳步，而在忙碌的工作之餘，同窗會的再建成為共同的冀望。約1950年前後，在東京等地出現以「蕉葉會」為名的小型聚會，也有人用該會的名義編輯通訊名簿。隨著日本經濟復甦及繁榮，在日本的臺北高校師生有更多機會重逢。

1960年代以降，蕉葉會成員透過總會選出會長，第一屆畢業生鉅鹿義明（1928文甲）為首任會長，在其之下有副會長、常任幹事等人分工合作，使會務上軌道，發揮更多功能，定期舉辦新年會與總會，並發行會報。在鉅鹿之後擔任會長者，依序是：清水護（1928文甲）、吉村邦壽（1928文甲）、大越伸（1929理甲）、霜三雄（1929理乙）、前田一博（1931文甲）、佐伯喜一（1933文乙）、山口房雄（1938文乙）、藏本人司（1942年9月文甲）。臺北高校師生遍布日本全國，蕉葉會的支部也在各地深耕。尤其值得特書的是，蕉葉會成員合力編纂《臺北高等學校》（1970年

Association” began to appear in Tokyo and other places, and somebody used this name to compile a contact book. With the Japanese economic recovery and prosperity, Taihoku Higher School alumni in Japan had more chances to meet again.

Since the 1960s, members of the Banana Leaf Association have chosen the president through general meetings. The first-year graduate Ohga Yoshiaki (class of 1928, Arts A) was the first president, and the work of keeping the Association's affairs in order was shared with a vice-president, permanent secretary and others. The Association regularly held new year parties and general meetings, and released its own newsletter. After Yoshiaki, the presidents were: Shimizu Mamoru (1928 Arts A), Yoshimura Kunihisa (1928 Arts A), Ogoshi Shin (1929 Science A), Shimo Mitsuo (1929 Science B) Maeda Kazuhiro (1931 Arts A), Saeki Kiichi (1933 Arts B), Yamaguchi Fusao (1938 Arts B), Kuramoto Hitoshi (September 1942 Arts A). There were teachers and students of Taihoku Higher School throughout Japan, and the branches of the Banana Leaf Association were active everywhere. Association members collaborated to compile “Taihoku Higher School” (published 1970), and in 2003 published Song of Shishito Mountain- Ringing the Bell of Autonomy and Freedom, passing on the lost school history through their common memories. In 2015, after the death of the 6th president of the Banana Leaf Association, Kuramoto Hitoshi, the Banana Leaf Association was disbanded due to the gradual aging and declining of its members.

The Banana Leaf Association may have been in operation since the 1950s, but the “banana soldiers” had only just returned to society, so there were few of them in attendance. Up to around 1990, the 60-year-old banana soldiers would meet twice a year, arranging members to give talks and conduct discussions. In October 1993, a meet-up was organized in Yurakucho, Tokyo. Its participants were mostly banana soldiers living in Tokyo and nearby cities. Takeuchi Shotaro (class of 1946, Arts, died 2021) played an important role in enabling the continuation of the activities of the banana soldiers. He was in charge of conducting and chairing regular meetings, and he was very talkative and humorous; his book Taiwan Island is Forever (1990) is a reference-worthy resource for understanding Taiwanese history around the end of the war. On the 100th anniversary of Taihoku Higher School’s foundation in 2022, the Chinese language version of the book was published thanks to the efforts of retired professor Tsai Chin-Tang of the NTNU Graduate Institute of Taiwan History. Due to the impact of COVID-19, the Banana Soldier Association was forced to stop meeting from 2020, however, the nonagenarians are still full of nostalgia for Taiwan and their alma mater.

V. Taiwanese Alumni of Taihoku Higher School and Postwar Taiwan

There were around 630 Taiwanese graduates of Taihoku Higher School. However, not many of them revealed their talents during the Japanese colonial period. They had to adapt to the changes of the times and overcome the language barrier before they could gradually develop their strengths in postwar Taiwan. To take a broad view of the performance of the Taiwanese alumni of Taihoku Higher School in postwar Taiwan, they certainly made great contributions to Taiwanese society in areas such as politics, academia, industry and medicine.

There are some well-known figures among them, the foremost being Hsu Ching-Chung. He was a first-year graduate of Taihoku Higher School and a first-year graduate of agricultural science at Taihoku Imperial University. He was a famous expert in agricultural economics. After the war, he

出版），2003 年再出版《獅子頭山讚歌：自治と自由の鐘が鳴る》，書寫已然消失的校史，傳遞共同的記憶。2015 年蕉葉會第六屆會長藏本人司去世之後，因會員已漸老衰，同年蕉葉會解散。

如上所述，1950 年代以降，蕉葉會漸次展開活動，但「蕉兵」才剛出社會，因此出席人數不多。到 1990 年前後，年約 60 歲的他們每年聚會 2 次；1993 年 10 月起固定在東京的有樂町聚會，參加者以住在東京與附近縣市的蕉兵為主，每次安排成員報告、進行討論。蕉兵會的活動能持續維持，竹內昭太郎（1946 文科，2021 年去世）扮演重要的角色，他負責舉辦及主持例會，健談幽默；其著作《臺灣島は永遠に在る》（1990 年）更是了解戰爭結束前後臺灣史值得參考的資料，在臺北高校創立百週年的民國 111 年（2022），該書中文版《永遠的台灣島》在臺灣史研究所退休教授蔡錦堂的努力下問世，深具意義。蕉兵會因受到中國武漢肺炎疫情影響，自 2020 年起被迫停止舉辦。儘管如此，高齡九十以上的他們對於臺灣和母校仍然充滿懷念。

伍、臺灣人臺北高校校友與戰後臺灣

臺北高校臺灣人畢業生約有 630 位，在日治時期即已嶄露頭角者人數甚少，他們必須適應時代的轉換，克服語言（中文）等問題，始能在戰後的臺灣逐漸發揮所長。綜觀臺北高校臺灣人校友在戰後的表現，可以肯定他們在政界、學界、實業界、醫界等領域貢獻於臺灣社會。

其中有較高知名度者，首推徐慶鐘。他是臺北高校第一屆畢業生，也是臺北帝大理農學部第一屆畢業生，為知名的農經專家，戰後在政府體系中曾任內政部長、行政院副院長等職。此外，他也是戰後初期臺灣人臺北高校校友組成的臺北高校同學會第一任會長，其後的會長依序是：劉闊才（1932 文乙，曾任立法院長）、楊基銓（1937 文乙，曾任經濟部次長）、黃伯超（1945 理乙，曾任臺灣大學醫學院長）、現任的辜寬敏（1946 文科，實業家，現任總統府資政）。值得一提的是，戰後從臺北高中畢業的校友（僅 4 屆），後來也加入同學會，他們同樣對母校懷有滿滿的感情。

政界方面的臺北高校校友，有五院院長或副院長、大法官、監察委員、民意代表，以及地方首長等。而最為世人所熟知者，則是從民國 77 年（1988）至民國 89 年（2000）擔任總統長達 12 年的李登輝（1943 文甲）。在李前總統任內，民國 81

held the post of Minister of the Interior, Vice Premier of the Executive Yuan, and other positions. In addition, he was the first president of the Taihoku Higher School Alumni Association, which was formed by former students in early postwar Taiwan. The subsequent presidents were: Liu Kuo-Tsai (1932 Arts B, once President of the Legislative Yuan), Yang Ji-Quan (1937 Arts B, once Deputy Minister of Economic Affairs), Huang Po-Chao (1945 Science B, once Dean of National Taiwan University College of Medicine) and incumbent Koo Kuang-Ming (1946 Arts, industrialist, current Senior Advisor to the President).

Postwar graduates of Taipei High School (only four sessions), later also entered the alumni association. They were equally full of nostalgia for their alma mater.

Plenty of Taihoku Higher School alumni entered the world of politics: presidents or deputies of government agencies, Justices of Constitutional Court, Control Yuan committee members, Legislators and regional senior officials. The most famous among them is Lee Teng-Hui (class of 1943, Arts A) who was president for 12 years from 1988 to 2000. In October 1992, when former president Lee was in office, the Taihoku Higher School Alumni Association held its 70th anniversary celebration at Grand Hotel. Japanese students of the Banana Leaf Association attended, and groups from other old system higher schools also came to participate in the grand event. President Lee made a speech in which he said: an autonomous education enables students to be free of external norms and pursue profound knowledge. Graduates of Taihoku Higher School are active in all walks of life in Taiwan and Japan, and their continued fellowship creates a bridge of transnational exchange. After this was reported in the media, the Taiwanese people had a better understanding of the special old-system schools in Taiwan during the Japanese colonial period.

Besides political circles, there are many outstanding alumni of Taihoku Higher School in academia. Taking Lee Teng-Hui's seniors and classmates who taught at National Taiwan University (NTU) by example, at least 60 graduates of Taihoku Higher School taught at NTU. They carried out research and teaching in colleges such as the College of Bio-Resources and Agriculture, College of Engineering, College of Liberal Arts, College of Law, College of Science and the College of Medicine, training the nation's next generation of leaders. If alumni who graduated toward the end of the war are included, almost a hundred Taihoku Higher School alumni have held teaching positions at NTU, with more than half of them in the College of Medicine, and 6 of them Deans of the College of Medicine. They were Wei Huo-Yao (class of 1929, Sciences B), Li Chen-Yuan (1935, Sciences B), Peng Ming-Tsung (1937, Sciences B), Yang Sze-Piao (1939, Sciences B), Yang Czao-Siung (September 1942, Sciences A) and the abovementioned professor Huang Po-Chao. The alumni of Taihoku Higher School have clearly played important roles in modern medical history.

Furthermore, although the positioning of Taipei High School, founded after the war, was no

政界以外，臺灣的學術界有許多成績卓越的臺北高校校友。以任教國立臺灣大學的李登輝的學長及其同屆同學為例，至少有60位臺北高校畢業生曾任教臺大，在農學院、工學院、文學院、法學院、理學院、醫學院等學院，從事研究與教學，培育國家新一代的菁英。若加上戰爭末期畢業的臺北高校校友，在臺大任教的臺北高校校友接近百人，其中半數以上分布在醫學院，更有6位校友擔任醫學院長，他們是魏火曜（1929理乙）、李鎮源（1935理乙）、彭明聰（1937理乙）、楊思標（1939理乙）、楊照雄（1942年9月理甲）與前述的黃伯超教授，可見臺北高校校友在近代醫學史上扮演重要的角色。

進而言之，戰後成立的臺北高級中學，其定位雖然與一般高中無異，仍吸引許多優秀的學子報考，約有400位畢業生，其中近七成的畢業生就讀國立臺灣大學。從戰前到戰後初期，臺北高校與臺北高中總共培養了約一千名的臺灣人菁英，除了少數人的事蹟為人所熟知以外，絕大多數的生平仍有待持續探討。

臺北高校存續的時間雖僅二十餘年（1922-1945），學有專精的師長在此傳道、授業、解惑，學生們在此求知、與同儕盡情地互動，享受青春該有的燦爛美好。臺北高校學生有許多的社團活動，所創辦的文藝刊物相當豐富，較知名的有新聞社的《臺高》、文藝社的《翔風》，學生間也流傳小型刊物。此外在運動、娛樂等方面，也有精彩的表現。學生們在校外時而嬉鬧，校內也曾發生集體罷課事件等出人意外的行為舉動，加以學生中有不少人喜歡「弊衣破帽」的風格，也就是故意弄破帽子，穿舊制服，愛穿木屐發出聲響，搭配黑色長外套，走起路來相當威風神氣，在當時的臺灣社會可說是特殊的一群人。臺北高校被視為「狀元學校」，是培養國家未來菁英的高等學府，學生則被認為是「天之驕子」。

different from other senior high schools, it still attracted many outstanding students to take the entrance exam. Of around 400 graduates, almost 70% of them went on to study at NTU. From the pre-war to early postwar period, Taihoku Higher School and Taipei High School trained around 1000 Taiwanese distinguished leaders between them. Aside from the relatively small number of people whose deeds are well-known, the large majority of their lives have yet to be researched.

VI. Conclusion

Although Taihoku Higher School only existed for less than 30 years (1922-1945), teachers with specialized knowledge lectured, taught and mentored there. Students from the school were keen for knowledge and unfettered interaction with their peers, and enjoyed the wonder of youth. Taihoku Higher School students had many association activities, and its arts publications were plentiful. The News Club's magazine TaiKō was quite well-known, as was the Arts Club's Shōfū (Soaring Wind). Small-scale publications were also circulated between students. In addition, there were also marvelous displays in sports and entertainment. Students occasionally caused disturbances off-campus, and once had a mass student strike on campus. Many of the students there favored the “shabby clothes broken hat” style, that is to say, they deliberately bent their hats and wore old style clothes. They loved to make noise with their wooden clogs, and with their long black coats, they struck an impressive figure walking down the street. They were certainly an unusual group in contemporary Taiwanese society. Taihoku Higher School was seen as the “highest ranking school,” and it was a high-level educational establishment that cultivated the nation’s future leaders, and its students were known as the “proud sons of heaven”.

The history of Taihoku Higher School has sparked much interest, with many outstanding and talented alumni throughout Taiwan and Japan. However, research into the school's history began only quite recently. The history of the school began to receive more recognition from teachers and students after Professor Tsai Chin-Tang of the Graduate Institute of Taiwan History led research students in gathering information and visiting alumni. He installed the Taihoku Higher School Room on the 8th floor of the library and held academic seminars there. The following theses and dissertation, with some quite substantial content, have been completed under the guidance of professor Tsai: 1. Hsu Sheng-Kai “Research on Taihoku Higher School during the Japanese occupation” (2009); Hsu later published the specialist book “Taihoku Higher School During the Japanese Occupation and Elite Education” (2012). 2. Tsuda Isoko “The cultural activities of Taiwanese and Japanese college students during the war: taking the Taihoku Higher School circular magazines ‘Cloud Leaf’ and ‘Apricot’ as examples” (2016); Tsuda later published the specialist book “Wartime Taiwanese College Students and the Arts: the spiritual history of elite students from the old Taihoku Higher School magazines ‘Cloud Leaf’ and ‘Apricot’” (2017). 3. Hsu Shao-Gang “The conscription and realities of the Taihoku Higher School student soldiers” (2017). 4. Lin Yu-Li “‘Taiwan Student’ Chosei Kabira and his family: the meeting of Taiwan, Ryukyu and Japan” (2019). 5. Chen Yu-Ci “Ong Iok-Tek and the Thinking Society of Taiwanese Imperial Japan Serviceman Compensation” (2020). 6. Lai Kuan-Wen “Research of Taiwan Provincial Taipei High School under regime transition from 1945 to 1949” (2020). 7. Miho Tanaka “Migration and boundary—analysis of memories of Shotaro Takeuchi, at a student of Taihoku Higher School and immigration bureaucrats” (2021). Over the last decade, the great efforts that have gone into this field have shed light on many details of this historic school.

臺北高校的歷史如此有趣，校友遍布臺、日兩國，有許多傑出的人才輩出，然而校史研究起步卻是相當晚近的事。約自民國 95 年（2006）起，臺灣史研究所的蔡錦堂教授帶領研究生從事資料蒐集、訪談校友，並在圖書館 8 樓建置臺北高校資料室、舉辦學術研討會以後，臺北高校歷史獲得更多師生重視。在蔡錦堂教授的指導下，已完成如下所列的學位論文，內容均相當堅實：一、徐聖凱，〈日治時期臺北高等學校之研究〉（2009）；其後出版成專書《日治時期臺北高等學校與菁英養成》（2012）。二、津田勤子，〈戰爭時期臺日高校生文藝活動：以臺北高等學校傳閱雜誌《雲葉》與《杏》為例〉（2016）；其後出版成專書《戰時下台灣の高等学校生と文芸：旧制台北高等学校「雲葉」と「杏」雑誌から見るエリート学生達の精神史》（2017）。三、徐紹綱，〈臺北高等學校學徒兵的徵召與實態〉（2017）。四、林祐里，〈「灣生」川平朝清與其家族探討：臺灣、琉球與日本的邂逅〉（2019）。五、陳鈺琪，〈王育德與臺灣人原日本兵補償問題思考會〉（2020）。六、賴冠欸，〈新舊政權夾縫中的臺灣省立臺北高級中學（1945-1949）〉（2020）。七、田中美帆，〈移動與境界—臺北高校生・入管官僚竹內昭太郎的記憶分析〉（2021）。經過 10 餘年間的努力，使該校的面貌變得更加清晰。

民國 102 年（2013）4 月，臺師大將原臺北高校舉辦創校暨首屆開學典禮日列入紀念日之一，並重鑄「自由之鐘」（現置於文薈廳前的維也納森林）。民國 107 年（2018）11 月，本校第 121 次校務會議通過追溯校史案，校齡溯自大正 11 年臺北高等學校創校年。亦即臺北高校、臺北高中、臺灣省立師範學院、臺灣省立師範大學、國立臺灣師範大學都是校史中不可或缺的部分。有鑑於臺北高校奠定本校發展重要的基礎，其建築、藏書、人才輩出的校友都是珍貴的資產，民國 110 年（2021）5 月 21 日本校召開「110 年校史發展委員會第一次會議」，決議成立百年大事記專刊編纂工作小組。同時，進行臺北高校校友家屬的口訪，盼能發掘更多的故事與史料，以深化日治時期高等教育史的研究。儘管此項工作不易進行，但由於臺北高校的畢業生中，有不少人是兄弟，也有不少的校友之間有親戚關係，仍有開展的可能性。在紀念創立百年以後，對於兩千多位校友的個案研究仍有待探討，祈願在本校師生與臺、日兩國各界的努力下，今後對臺北高校的校史與師生能有更多、更深入的成果呈現。

In April 2013, NTNU included the founding and first opening ceremony of the former Taihoku Higher School on its list of anniversaries, and recast the "Liberty Bell" (now in Vienna Woods in front of Wenhui Hall). In November 2018, the 121st school affairs meeting traced the school's historical records back to 1922, Taihoku Higher School's inaugural year. Taihoku Higher School, Taipei High School, Taiwan Provincial Teachers College, Taiwan Provincial Normal University and the National Taiwan Normal University are all integral parts of the school's history. In view of the fact that Taihoku Higher School laid the foundations for the development of this school, its buildings, library collections, and talented alumni, on May 21 2021, this school held the "2021 School History Development Committee Inaugural Meeting." The committee resolved to establish a working group to compile a record of the major events of the last century and conduct oral interviews with family members of Taihoku Higher School alumni. By uncovering more stories and historical data, the committee hopes to expand the research on the history of higher education during the Japanese rule. While this work is not easy to undertake, thanks to the fact that many of the alumni were brothers or otherwise related, it was still possible to carry out. After commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the school's foundation, the cases of more than 2000 alumni still remain to be researched. We hope that the efforts of our faculty and Taiwanese and Japanese from all walks of life will allow more and deeper insights into the history of Taihoku Higher School in the future.

Liao Chi-Chun was from Fengyuan, Taichung and became one of the first generation of Taiwanese contemporary artists to work in the Academic school of Western painting style.

After the end of WWII, Liao taught at the Department of Fine Arts at NTNU. His teaching style was open and magnanimous, respecting expressions of individualism, and he encouraged students to experiment with different possibilities. After retiring from NTNU in 1973, he taught part-time until his death in 1976.

Liao's early works were in the style of Japanese Pleinairism, but he was later influenced most by French Impressionism, Fauvism, abstract art and American Abstract Expressionism, and as a result his works became more free and mature. In his later years, Liao incorporated the subjective representation gained from abstraction which not only revealed the uniqueness of rural Taiwan, it also achieved the perfect harmony of life and art. The bright and vibrant colors in the artist's works still inspire amazement in the Taiwan art scene today, leading to Liao being known as the "Color Magician."

Liao also served as a judge at many of the Provincial Fine Arts Exhibitions, established the Tai-Yang Art Exhibition and was frequently judge in its Western Painting category. In 1962, the US State Department invited him on an official visit.

The Governing Council originally planned to set up a college of literature and history in our school, but Chou Yu-Tung was unable to take up his post twice due to circumstances. Fan Shou-Kang, director of the education department, decided to set up a "Taiwan Provincial College of Literature" to solve the problem of the shortage of secondary education teachers and to cultivate teachers of literature and history. In March, the Governing Council hired 9 people, including Fan Shoukang, as preparatory committee members to work in Longkou Town, Taipei (now Taipei Mandarin Experiment Elementary School). On April 12, Fan Shou-Kang, citing the urgent need to cultivate a large number of secondary education teachers, submitted for approval by Governor Chen Yi, the Governor, the establishment of a teachers college. Our school was selected to set up the "Taiwan Provincial Teachers College" given that its library, buildings and equipment were relatively complete.

師範生公費制度，可溯自民國 21 年（1932）公布之「師範學校法」。民國 33 年（1944）行政院公布「全國師範學校學生公費待遇實施辦法」，成為民國 35 年（1946）1 月臺灣省行政長官公署教育處訂定「臺灣省師範生公費待遇辦法」之法源依據，包含應享受公費部分、得享受公費部分，另可依法令受領獎學金。

The public funding system for normal students can be traced back to the "Normal School Law" promulgated in the 21st year of the Republic of China (1932). In the 33rd year of the Republic of China (1944), the Executive Yuan promulgated the "Measures for the Implementation of Public Funding for Students in National Normal Schools", which became the legal basis for the "Measures for the Public Funding of Normal School Students in Taiwan Province" formulated by the Education Office of the Governing Council of Taiwan Province in January 1946, including the parts that should and could be public funded. Students could further receive scholarships according to law.
